The scenic area boasts unique natural landscapes, rugged rock formations, mysterious caves and palaces, unpredictable weather phenomena, thrilling cliff pathways, ancient Tang temples, and a harmonious blend of mountains, water, forests, springs, and caves. It combines grandeur, oddity, danger, and beauty. It's suitable for tourism all year round, offering opportunities to appreciate high-altitude azaleas in spring, enjoy a summer paradise, witness the colorful autumn, and experience a southern snowy plain in winter. It is a tourism masterpiece throughout the seasons, a holy site for Zen and Buddhism. It has been successively awarded as a national-level scenic spot, national nature reserve, national forest park, national natural heritage, national popular science education base, and national 5A-level scenic area.
